Education in Emergencies Online Course

This course unit has been developed by Save the Children in collaboration with INEE, Plan International and many other contributing partners. The EiE Online course explicitly links to the INEE Competency Framework and is a foundational pre-requisite for the accredited EiE Certificate of Advanced Studies (CAS), delivered in partnership with the University of Geneva (see the EiE Professional Development Programme webpage for more information on this).

Evidence

The Education in Emergencies (EiE) Online Course is a self-directed open-access series of thematic modules and specific units designed to help develop basic-mid-level competencies of EiE and education staff working in emergency or fragile contexts. Certain modules and units may also be useful for generalists who need to enhance their understanding of certain aspects of EiE for their roles, or personal interest. The EiE Online course explicitly links to the INEE Competency Framework and is a foundational pre-requisite for the accredited EiE Certificate of Advanced Studies, delivered in partnership with the University of Geneva (see the EiE Professional Development Programme webpage for more information on this).
